

Presidents Report AGM 2022

Another year, another imposition descended on us, if it is not Covid then it is El Nina and we have lost games due to this weather phenomenon.

This year there are 2 significant events:

Carnarvon, reopened their course for 20 players, 20 players is not good enough, nor is it appropriate for our club, we need to have the opportunity for all to play and not being selective, so I have cancelled the games with them. The other is the amalgamation with Bankstown Golf Club details yet to be announced.

We have managed to spend our grant of around $10,000.00 with a spray jacket and a vest. It is interesting, the subsidy of green fees prizes, golf balls and medals has taken from the funds, then the presentation and game prizes.

I have ordered and paid for new monthly medals in the form of ball markers 32mm in size with our logo in colour a nickel finish. Gold medals have also been ordered. The marker is in gold and again with our logo. In the same order I have also ordered divot repair tools with our logo on the ball marker.

We have travelled to another first course, Eastlakes, and I hope all enjoyed playing there. Next year I have booked North Ryde.

The year has been sprinkled with illness and operations, I hope all have, and will recover completely and return to play.

As is important at the end of the year is the enduring commitment of the committee, who tolerate my cooking. Steve who runs the day and provides me with his thoughts and ideas, Jim is a typical treasurer, tight, but dedicated to the Club and its wellbeing. Victor who always performs his role to perfection, providing your thoughts and who does have you – the players interests at heart and to thank him for the last couple of years when he gave his time to serve on the committee. Mark who has the handicap system as professionally done as any club can expect.

Lastly Neville... I have said before we need to appreciate how much work and time he puts into the club, including running the Facebook page and our web site, all the time updating information, running the Thursday group, providing all our formal communications – everything you read on the news about the club, as he did last year and through all that happened this year. I want to thank him for the close support and advice he provides.

I hope next year will be successful for us with not too many obstacles The calendar I hope will be published soon as I must adjust it and find other venues due to cancellations and anticipated announcements.

Thank you all again for your support.
